Born on October 23, 1942, in Chicago, Illinois to Jesse and Agnes Campbell, Eunice the 5th of 10 children, was the youngest girl of the Campbell family. Reared in a “God-honoring family, Eunice, affectionately known as Jean, flourished in her pursuits.

Attending Riis Elementary and after graduating from Crane High School, Eunice married, Johnnie W. McIntyre, and to that union, 7 children were born. Eunice’s career was geared early on to be one of service and creativity. She was a hairstylist, a paraprofessional at Michele Clark Academy, worked for the US Postal Service, and as an administrator doing whatever her hands found to do in her professional and church life. Church would be where she found solace, strength, and a continued sense of belonging. Her unwavering devotion to her faith and family was a guiding force that shaped her life and interactions with others. Eunice’s caring heart extended beyond her immediate family, she was known to be witty, funny, smart, and a straight shooter. She was a Youth Leader and helped start the church Youth Work Program and Educational Center. She would later become the Sunday School Superintendent. Eunice found joy in simple pleasures. She loved reading, games, puzzles, and drawing, which brought her a sense of tranquility. She made sure that all her children experienced these same pleasures.
